

September 3, 1998

Stephen Smale, City University of Hong Kong, visiting MSRI

Mathematical problems for the next century: version 2

V. I. Arnold, on behalf of the International Mathematical Union, has written to a number of mathematicians with a suggestion that they describe some great problems for the next century. In this lecture the speaker reports on his response.